Healthy Youth Development

Adult-Supported, Youth-Engaged Planning: A Roadmap

Start-Up

- Connect Agencies
- Identify Strengths
- Identify and Support Adult Allies
- Frame Client Questions
- Create Action Plan and Timeline

Making Sense of the City

Into Action: Project Proposals

- At Hunters View: Promontory Park will be built, and will include a youth center, art, and a water feature
- At Sunnydale: Life Center will be built that incorporates a food retail space.
- At Potrero Terrace/Annex: Community garden will be built, adjacent to a food retail space.
- At Westside Courts: An intergenerational Youth and Senior Center will be built

Going Public

Looking Forward and Back

- Successes:
 - Participation from 4 HOPE SF sites
 - Youth compensated for their time and efforts
 - Well-received final presentations at Summit
- Challenges:
 - Unclear roles and responsibilities of multiple stakeholders
 - Inadequate infrastructure to support Adult Allies and Youth Leaders in moving forward

Fleshing out the “health” in building healthy communities

- Health Impact Assessment (HIA)
- Healthy Development Measurement Tool (HDMT)
