Dear Christine Moon,

The American Public Health Association's 143rd APHA Annual Meeting and Expo (Oct. 31 - Nov. 4, 2015) in Chicago, will be here before we know it. This year's meeting is offering a broad spectrum of high quality, in-depth scientific sessions, and the Program Planning Committee and APHA staff want to thank you for your contribution and participation in furthering public health education. While we are excited that more than 1,000 sessions are scheduled, the sheer number of sessions and session presenters prevent APHA from paying honoraria and expenses.

A detailed schedule for your session(s) is available on the Online program where your APHA session number (see above) is listed to ensure no changes have been made since your earlier communication from APHA. See guidelines for oral, poster and roundtables presentations.

If you were contacted by a session organizer and invited to participate in a special invited panel session and a complimentary one-day pass is being provided by the Section, please confirm those arrangements prior to your departure.

Any questions about your presentation should be directed to the program planner of the Section, SPIG, Caucus or Forum organizing the above referenced session(s). Contact information.

Please note: It sometimes becomes necessary to relocate sessions at the last minute so please refer to the printed Final Program on-site to re-confirm your session location. Once again we thank you for your contribution to public health and your involvement in the APHA Annual Meeting and look forward to seeing you in Chicago.

Sincerely,

Donna L. Wright
